Course Description
World Geography will focus on the distribution of human populations, and the causes and reasons through interrelationships, on a global scale, among physiography, climatology, natural resources, and the cultural, political, and economic geography of natural regions.

Course Focus
The instructor will use lecture, discussion, demonstration, multimedia (including computers), world-wide web, and personal experiences to familiarize students with the world.

Course Goals
• To develop a capacity for analytical thinking.
• To understand the interrelationship between human populations and the natural environment.
• To understand the spatial distribution of human populations.
• To develop an awareness of place geography.
• To examine cultures different from our own.

Student Contributions
Each student should spend at least 6 hours per week preparing for class. Attendance is critical in this class. Each student is expected to attend class and participate in all class activities. Arriving late, leaving early, or talking during class is distracting and discourteous to your fellow students. All electronic devices including cell phones should be set to the silent setting and put away during class.

Academic Dishonesty
Cheating
The term "cheating" includes, but is not limited to:
a. use of any unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, or examinations;
b. dependence upon the aid of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor in writing papers, preparing reports, solving problems, or carrying out other assignments;
c. the acquisition, without permission, of tests, notes or other academic material belonging to a faculty or staff member of the university;
d. dual submission of a paper or project, or resubmission of a paper or project to a different class without express permission from the instructor(s); or

Plagiarism
The term "plagiarism" includes, but is not limited to:
a. the knowing or negligent use by paraphrase or direct quotation of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgment, and/or
b. the knowing or negligent unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or by an agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials.

Students found guilty of any form of academic dishonesty, including but not limited to cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, plagiarism, and collusion may receive an F on the assignment and/or the course from the instructor and may be suspended from college by administrative action.

Religious Holidays
In accordance with State law, students absent due to the observance of a religious holiday may take examinations or complete assignments scheduled for the day missed within a reasonable time after the absence, at the discretion of the instructor. Students who will be absent from class for the observance of a religious holiday must notify the instructor by written document in advance.

Disability Accommodation
It is the policy of UNT and this instructor to provide reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals who are students with disabilities.
Students who qualify for accommodations are responsible for presenting to their instructor an Accommodation Request Form, which is generated on ODA letterhead and signed by a department official. This form verifies that the student has a disability and summarizes the recommended accommodations.

Course Evaluation
The course grade is determined by:

- lecture exams 75
