

GEOG 4750 – Surface Water Hydrology is the study of hydrological processes with emphasis on the hydrological cycles; soil moisture; infiltration; watersheds and drainage systems; flow mechanics, sediment transportation and deposition; and river response to climate change and other impacts of human activity.